AUSTRIAN EMPEROR FAVORABLE TO U. S.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
The Hague, Dec. 23.—"Emperor Francis Joseph of Austria has taken the step necessary to prevent a break in diplomatic relations between his country and the United States," says a message received from Vienna today by a neutral diplomat who has been afforded exceptional opportunities for communication with both the Austrian and German capitals.

"The aged emperor has counseled Baron Burian, his foreign minister, to grant the demands of the United States," the message continues. "He wishes the world to understand that Austria is not at odds with the United States over the principle of humanity involved in the destruction of the steamship Ancona, but that the issue is one of facts and that the facts presented by the United States will be accepted by him."

FORD THREATENED WITH PNEUMONIA

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Christiana, Dec. 23.—Finding that he was unable to shake off a severe cold that he had contracted on the peace ship Oscar II while en route to Christiania, Henry Ford was compelled to call in a physician last night. Ford said that it was the first time in his life that he had had a doctor.

The physician found that the peace leader was suffering from influenza and threatened with pneumonia.

"I have advised Mr. Ford not to go to Stockholm until after Christmas," said the physician as he left shortly after midnight. "I hope he will heed my advice."

Members of the expedition also urged Mr. Ford to remain here pointing out that though the Oscar II would sail today there would be no events of importance in Stockholm until after Christmas.

Memorial services for Lloyd Bingham, who died yesterday of pneumonia, were held on the Oscar II last evening.

IRONCLAD PACT IN 52 WORDS

International Agreement Between the Allies a Model of Brevity and Clearness in Expressing an Argument.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
London, Dec. 23.—Fifty-two words comprise the most powerful international pact in the history of the world. This pact is the declaration of London, binding England, France, Russia, Japan and Italy into a quintuple-alliance. By the terms of the pact, no one of the Powers can conclude a separate peace.

The text of the covenant follows:

The five governments agree that when terms of peace come to be discussed no one of the Allies will demand conditions of peace without the previous agreement of each other of the Allies."

It is signed by the following representatives of the Powers:

England, Sir Edward Grey; France, Paul Cambon; Italy, Marquis Imperiali; Japan, K. Inouye; Russia, Comte Benckendorff.

New York Apples in Storage.

New York had almost exactly the same quantity of apples in cold storage at the beginning of the cold storage season December 1, 1915, as it reported on the same date 1914. The office of markets of the federal department of agriculture states, however, that there were 15 1/2 per cent more apples in storage in the whole country on December 1 than on the same date one year ago. New York reports 1,327,231 barrels and 249,313 boxes. At the rate of three boxes to a barrel this is a total of 1,410,335 barrels. No other state has half as many, the nearest being Illinois, Missouri and California. All of the far western states report apples only in boxes.

Schools are Closed.

The city schools closed today for the Christmas holidays, exercises being held in the afternoon for the grammar schools while the high school held its Christmas program this morning. The half-hour recess was given a tryout for the first time at the high school today, the pupils being excused for the afternoon at 2:45. School will open after the holidays on January 3.

5,000 Won't Get Post Cards.

Five thousand messages of love and Christmas cheer were burned Tuesday in the rear of the Flushing postoffice by order of Postmaster Kennedy under a postal regulation. They were burned postal cards. The reason for the destruction was that these are harmful to the sight and also infectious.

FALL GUYS HAVE LADIES AUXILIARY

Dues are 25 Cents a Week and Members to Get Furniture for Almost Nothing, but They are Still Waiting for It.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Fall Guys' Association, Kingston Chapter No. 1, has been organized in this city, with a large membership, and the story of the institution of the branch makes interesting reading, involving as it does a scheme for securing a fine piece of furniture for "almost nothing."

Some time ago a man made a house to house call in certain sections of the city, setting forth the advantages he had to offer the ladies of Kingston and assisting them in securing some piece of furniture that they had long desired for their homes. His story was that he represented a large furniture house out of town and that he was organizing furniture clubs. Each member paid 25 cents a week until they had paid in $18, when they would receive any article of furniture desired at that value. But to make the proposition more attractive each week there would be a "drawing" and the lucky member, even if she had only paid in her first quarter, would receive a handsome $18 piece of furniture. It is hardly needless to say that the agent had no trouble in securing members about town.

Things went along swimmingly and the membership of the local branch grew week by week as the agent canvassed the city thoroughly. Just how many members for the local order were secured will, of course, never be known. While the agent was corraling the quarters week by week he would inform each member of the chapter that so and so had won the weekly drawing. Just how many really did win a drawing is not known.

It is known, however, that the wife of a prominent man really did secure a piece of worth while furniture after she had paid in dues for a short time. It seems that the husband of the woman while walking down Broadway was accosted by a man who asked him if his wife was in the club and he replied that she was. The other man informed him that he thought there was something wrong about the proposition and that he did not believe that any one had really won a drawing in town. This led the prominent man to prepare a trap for the agent. It might be added here that when the prominent man learned his wife was in the club that he advised her that he was not in favor of her joining.

But to get down to the story of the trap that was laid. The prominent man went home and told his wife what he had heard and she informed him that she expected the agent the next day. He then told her to pay the agent the quarter and after she had done so to ask him who had won the drawing that week and let the agent write down the name and address of the winner, which the prominent man expected to investigate and ascertain if the winner really did win.

It so happened that the next day the prominent man was at home when the agent called and his wife in pursuance of the plan outlined by the previous day walked out toward the door to get into an adjoining room to get her quarter due when the agent called after her. "Never mind, you don't have to pay this week," "How is that?" inquired the lady of the house mystified.

"Why, you won the drawing this week," the agent informed her pleasantly.

Sure enough the furniture she selected was received a day or so later.

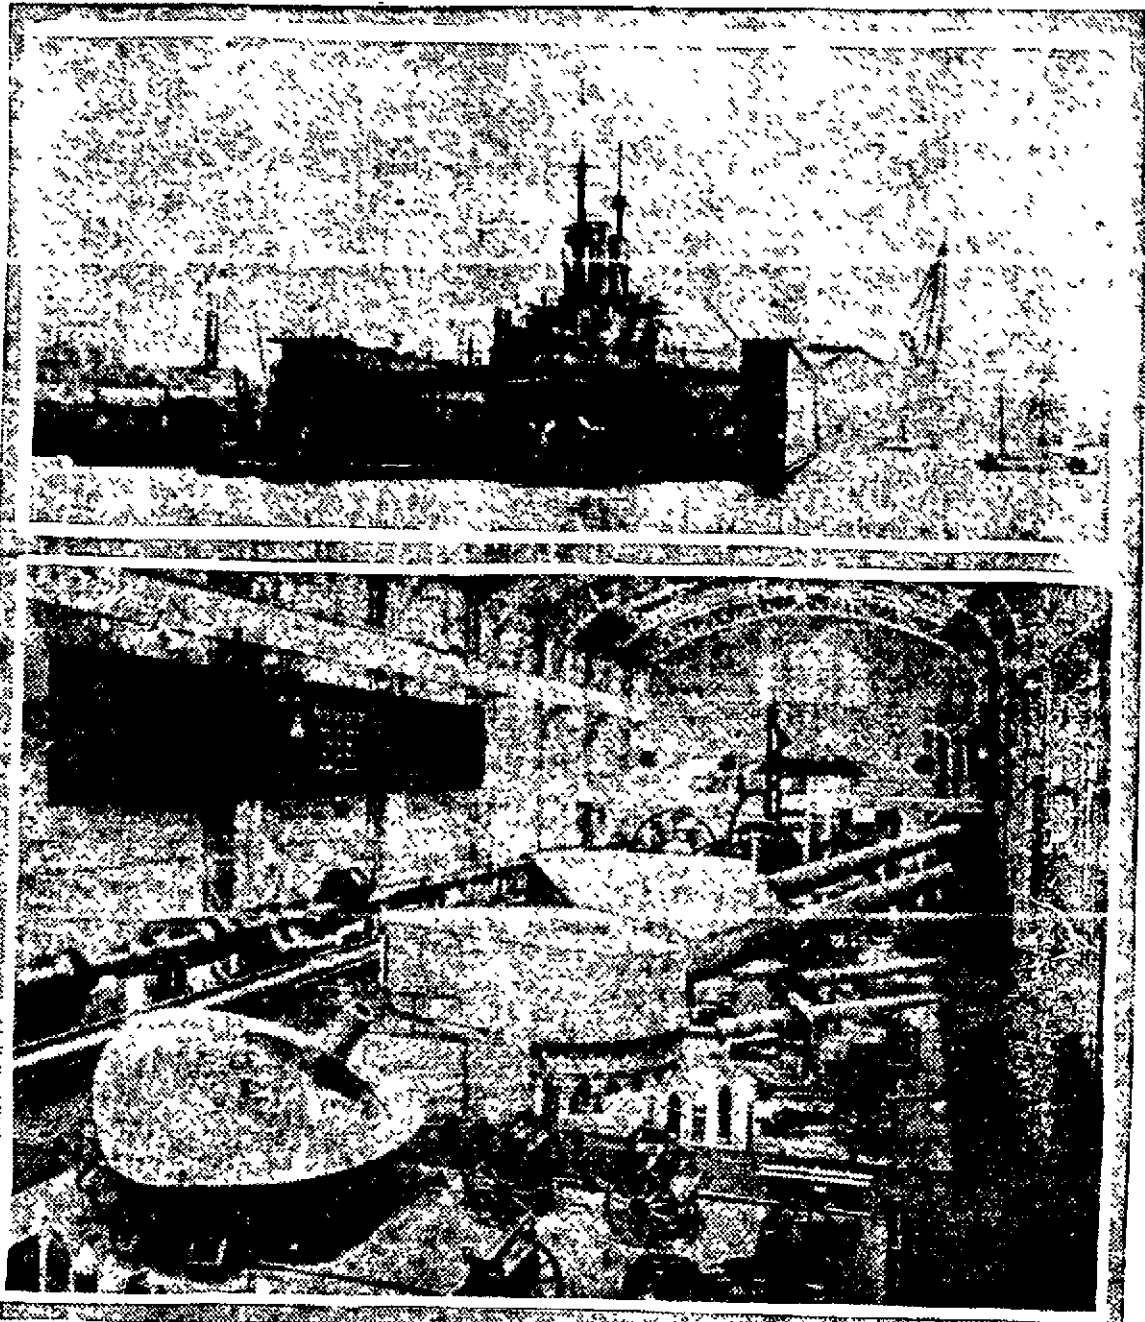

The prominent man was "fabled" at the way his trap had been sprung by the agent. For several days, whoever he met on the street asked him about his wife winning the drawing and he confessed she had and that the furniture was all right. New members immediately joined the lodge.

Shortly after the wife of the prominent man had won the drawing another lady, also a member of the lodge, determined that she might as well be prepared to pick out her piece of furniture as she, while not so fortunate as the other, having paid in dues amounting to over $15 and not winning a drawing, determined to have a relative who lived in the city where the furniture company was said to be located, go and look over the stock and let her know what she had best get when she had paid in the full amount of her dues. $18. She wrote and a few days later the relative wrote back that she had called and while the furniture company had been at the address stated, that it had gone bankrupt some time ago.

The news soon spread and many of the members of Kingston Chapter writing their hands as they think of the perfectly good quarters they had paid in that could be used so nicely just about now for purchasing Christmas presents.

Do You Like Horse Meat?

The sale of horse meat as a commodity will be legal in Greater New York after January 1. As a necessity of life the horse will be placed upon the same footing with cows, sheep and poultry. This sweeping action was taken by the board of health of New York Tuesday. New York city thus becomes the first in the country, so far as known, in which the legal restriction against horse flesh has been removed.

DRY DOCK IN KIEL CANAL. BELOW: TURRET ROOM IN KRUPP FACTORY.

OBJECTIVE POINTS OF CONTEMPLATED ALLIED AERO RAID.

Dry-dock at the Kiel Canal, Top, and Turret Room in the Krupp Gun Works at Essen, Bottom.

The famous Krupp gun works at Essen, Germany, and the Kiel Canal are the objective points of a contemplated gigantic aero raid by the Allies, according to an official of the Curtiss Aeroplane Company which is building air craft for the British government.

This official states that the raiding fleet will be composed of about 500 aeroplanes of all classes, ranging from the fleet scout air-cruiser, to the heavy battle-planes mounting two or more rapid fire guns. Seven thousand bombs, containing approximately 875 tons of explosive are to be used.

HIGH SCHOOL NEWS NOTES

A new plan has been adopted in regard to the debating team. In past years in Kingston there has been a first team selected with one or more alternates, and some times a second team. This year the judges were asked to select a varsity team, but instead selected a squad of eight fellows who will represent the high school in interscholastic debates this year.

From this squad the judges chose George Greene, Sherman Hasbrouck, and William Winston with Charles Sibley, alternate, to represent Kingston against Poughkeepsie this season. Last year Kingston Academy overcame Poughkeepsie high school on the subsidy question. So with the combined forces from both ends of the city working together this year it is hoped that Kingston high school will beat this same team in a debate on the trust question.

The whole squad selected is John Church, Albert Dero, George Greene, Sherman Hasbrouck, Charles Sibley, Edward Stelle, Edward Van Winkle and William Winston. Later in the season three men and an alternate will be chosen to battle with either Albany or Schenectady or both, in this city. As the debate in Poughkeepsie will probably be held February 18 the home debate cannot be expected before April at the earliest. Albany and Schenectady high schools both stand very high in debating circles so no matter which school debates here next spring Kingston will be given an opportunity of seeing her team put up a real hard fight.

The senior class held a meeting on Wednesday afternoon and President Hasbrouck appointed a committee to select the senior colors and motto, one to choose a name for the senior year book, and one to set on foot arrangements for a senior play.

The class has elected Fred Van Etten as editor and chief, and Mr. Peyer as business manager of the year book. John Church, the manager of the basketball team, states that the schedule of basketball games has been changed since formerly announced. The first three games of the season will be Saugerties at Kingston, January 7; Rhinebeck at Kingston, January 15; Ellenville at Kingston, January 21.

Last Friday evening the teachers held a social in the high school and from all reports it was a marked success.

Tittle explained that he had shot the bird before the season closed, wounding one of its wings but not killing it. He had not cared to kill it at close range nor yet to leave it to die. Consequently he had taken it home, fed it and nursed it back to health. By that time the bird had become a pet.

AMERICAN ON SUNKEN STEAMER

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Paris Dec. 23.—The sinking of the Japanese liner Yasaka Maru in the Mediterranean by a Teutonic submarine resulted in the biggest monetary loss that has resulted from the sinking of a ship since the war started. The cargo alone was valued at $5,000,000. The liner was insured against war risks by the Japanese Government.

London Dec. 23.—Additional details about the sinking of the new Japanese liner Yasaka Maru in the Eastern Mediterranean on Tuesday, received here today show:

1.—That the vessel was sunk with out warning.
2.—That there was one American on board.

Dispatches received in Paris from Malta on Wednesday said that the submarine was of German nationality. If this is true, Germany has apparently broken her promise to the United States not to sink any more passenger ships without warning.

The agents of the ship's owners in Port Said report that there were 150 passengers and a crew of 160 on board the liner, which, when destroyed, was on her way from London to Japanese ports. Among the passengers was W. J. Leigh, an American. He as well as all the others was saved. The passengers were picked up by a French gunboat and landed in Port Said after being in small boats for about nine hours. The Port Said agents report that the passengers all express great admiration for the skill and bravery of the captain and members of the ship's crew.

His Substitute.

Jack, who was five years of age, disliked being kissed and, being a handsome little chap, sometimes had a good deal to put up with. One day he had been kissed a lot. Then, to make matters worse, on going to the picture palace in the evening, instead of his favorite cowboy and Indian pictures, there was nothing but a lot more hugging and kissing.

He returned home completely out of patience with the whole tribe of women. After he had been snugly tucked into bed mother came in to kiss him good night, as usual. He refused to be kissed. Mother begged and begged till in disgust he turned to his father, who was standing at the doorway looking on, and said:

"Daddy, for the love of goodness give this woman a kiss!"—London Tit-Bits.

More Hugging and Kissing.

Never Despair.
Not to the swift, the race
Not to the strong, the light,
Not to the righteous, perfect grace;
Not to the wise, the light,
But often faltering feet
Come surest to the goal,
And they who walk in darkness meet
The sunrise of the soul.

Getting There Early.

In big league circles they are forever telling stories to illustrate the ability of Connie Mack to discern signs of talent in adolescent ball players in the back districts. Jimmy Callahan tells this one:

"When I was managing the White Sox and Jack Doyle was scouting for the outfit he kept telling me about a promising kid outfielder in one of the bush leagues. Somebody had given Jack a line on the youngster, and after he had mentioned the lad to me several times I told him to take a trip and look the kid over. At the end of a week Jack came back into camp.

"The kid is there, Jack said, reporting to me. 'He's a bear cat, but I didn't sign him up.'

"Why not?" I asked.
"Got there too late," says Jack. "I took a look at him from the grand stand when he was playing, and I knew we could use him, so before I said anything to him I went to see his father and mother. They had no objection to his playing professional ball on the grand circuit, but he was already under contract. Connie Mack signed him up when he was seven years old, and he's only eleven now!"—Saturday Evening Post.

Obstinacy.

Case and Comment says that Colonel Mason, who lives in Washington country, Me., had a great attitude for serving as a juror. When thus serving he was very anxious that his opinion should be largely consulted in making up a verdict. Some years ago while upon a case, after many hours trying to agree, but failing, he marshaled the delinquent jury from the room to their seats in the court, where the impatient crowd awaited the result of the trial. "Have you agreed upon a verdict?" inquired the clerk. The colored arose, turning a withering glance upon his brother jurors, and exclaimed: "May it please the court, we have not. I have done the best I could do, but here are eleven of the most contrary devils I ever had any dealings with."

By La Raconteuse.

Many of the evening wraps show feature elaborate combinations of rich fabrics and fur. The wrap illustrated is a particularly sumptuous affair of white panne velvet with elaborate trimming of beaver fur. Around the bottom, on the cuffs and forming a deep scarf collar, the beaver fur affords rich trimming. A very beautiful lining of figured silk shows when the wrap is thrown open.

Meeting an Emergency.

During a sham fight which constituted part of a certain infantry battalion's training for war a company was told off to follow up the retreating "enemy." For this purpose the pursuers, who had been having a strenuous time, had to cross a fairly wide river and were marched to the nearest bridge, which was about four miles away. Imagine their disappointment on arriving to find this notice attached to the bridge by the "enemy":—This bridge is blown up. But the officer in command of the pursuers was a man of action and promptly attached a notice to one of his leading men and proceeded to march his force across the bridge. They had almost crossed it when an umpire suddenly appeared, frantically waving his hand and exclaiming: "The bridge is blown up! All these men are drowned!" The commanding officer made no reply, but simply pointed to his notice, which read: "This company is swimming across."

His Helpful Suggestion.

In a church which could be named the pastor was desirous of bringing about in a tactful way some improvements in the midweek service and announced for a subject "The Ideal Prayer Meeting." A number of helpful suggestions had been made, when one brother known to be harmless as a dove if not wise as a serpent got up and said:

"I think everybody should come prepared to say something, so that no time should be lost except that which is taken by the pastor."

As he was known to be a great admirer of the pastor the gravity of the meeting was somewhat disturbed.

Time Enough to Begin.

"You may laugh, but I can truthfully say that my wife and I have not had a single disagreement since we were married."

"That's a good deal for any married couple to say. When were you married?"
"Yesterday."—Baltimore American.

Influence of Dreams.

If we dreamed the same thing every night it would affect us as the objects we see every day. And if an artisan were sure to dream every night for twelve hours' duration that he was a king I believe he would be almost as happy as a king who should dream every night for twelve hours on end that he was an artisan.—Pascal.

Roller Skates.

The earliest roller skate was patented by a Frenchman in 1819. About 1864 the craze for roller skating made its first appearance in England. In 1866 the "rinking" fever broke out in Australia and thence proceeded back to England and then to the United States. There has been an "intermittent fever" ever since, breaking out at intervals into the roller skating fad.

Liberal With Their Gains.

A Spanish adventurer, returning from highly lucrative wanderings in the early day Americas, is said to have given away $600,000 in alms on the occasion of his marriage at Barcelona. Another stood in a Madrid window and threw handfuls of silver coins into the crowd until he had emptied two barrels.

The Zadruga of Servia.

Those who know Servia well declare that the economic system known as the zadruga has saved the Serbs from the ills of poverty and all that flows from it. It is a glorified family. From one house others grow, as the family grows by marriage, until a little community is established on something like Socialistic principles. The stareshina (headman) and his wife live in the biggest house and direct the industries of the satellite houses. Anxiety as to bread and butter being eliminated, the Servian has become one of the gayest of the races of mankind.—London Graphic.

"If a man has the price he can get anything he wants and the way he wants it."

"Don't know about that. There's the medium soft boiled egg."—Brownings Magazine.

Had the Wrong Idea.

"The boys at our school had a chinning contest." "What good is school to you, if that is the language you use?" "Why, it was a chinning contest, dad. You see how many times you can chin a horizontal bar." "Oh, I thought you were talking about a debate."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

FASHION

Some one has described fashion as "the art of making the many wear what is becoming only to the few."

There is wit if not wisdom in the definition.

Nevertheless, few men or women have the courage to utterly disregard the "mode."

They want to be in sartorial tune with public opinion.

They take it as a mark of knowing "what's what."

And for this reason most people like to glance through the advertising in a few newspapers like The Freeman to see news of fashion.

KINGSTON, N. Y., DEC. 23, 1915.

Perhaps it is due to the fact that he is a newspaper man that Secretary of the Navy Daniels has seen fit to break precedent and publish the report of the General Board of the Navy, of which Admiral Dewey is president. This report expresses the opinion that not later than the year 1925 the United States should have a navy equal to that of Great Britain. It was issued last July and if it had been published then it would have saved much useless speculation as to the opinions of experts on this important subject. When in need of advice none of us goes to a lawyer for medicine nor to a doctor for law, and it seems just as unreasonable to listen to every Tom, Dick and Harry about military and naval matters. Admiral Dewey and his colleagues know much more about such matters as they have specialized in than we "laymen" know, and while we are not bound to follow their advice like blind and dumb folk, their opinions should be known and studied, and if Congress fails to endorse them and act upon them it is the business of the leaders in that body to tell their constituents why. There must be somewhere a document giving the views of military experts on what we need in the way of an army, and it also should be brought to light.

Half-way preparedness is no good, and it involves a criminal waste of public money. A householder who provided himself with an old muzzle-loading musket, knowing that burglars come with automatic firearms would be throwing away what little money he spent for the antiquated weapon. The experience of Germany shows the folly of maintaining a second-rate navy. That country might as well have saved the millions she put into the battleships which dare not go to sea and fight. Great Britain's policy of having a navy as large as any two others in the world may as well be squandered now as at any other time. The destiny of the United States has given it territory in both hemispheres and it is under the duty of protecting the same. A couple of years ago most of us believed that there would be no more big wars, but events have aroused us to an appreciation of the fact that war may come at any moment. Our only hope of averting it is to make an expedition against us so perilous that no nation will undertake it.

Since no repudiation has come from any quarter, we may assume that the New York Times was fully authorized last Sunday in publishing what it calls "a formal and almost official announcement" by the German Government. The striking point of the document is the statement that "whoever is guilty of conduct tending to associate the German cause with lawlessness of thought, suggestion or deed against life, property or order in the United States is in fact an enemy of that cause." In view of the pernicious activities of Boy-Ed and von Papen there is some excuse for those who choose to think the German communication insincere, but we should reflect that most of us at one time or another have suffered from the actions of a "wicked partner." Governments cannot escape discredit from fool friends any more than individuals can do so. Now that a certain class of "hyphenates" has received a tip from headquarters, let us hope to hear less from those who are more strongly pro-German than is the Kaiser himself.

There will continue to be much discussion regarding the extent to which politics was discussed last Friday night at a dinner given by ex-Judge Elbert H. Gary, who has been prominently identified with the United States Steel Corporation since its formation, at which the guests were Colonel Roosevelt and eighteen of the leading financiers of the country. A denial that politics was discussed has been followed by the statement that the assemblage was anxious to hear, and evidently did hear, Colonel Roosevelt's views on President Wilson's proposal to levy a tax on the steel industry and the proposed tax of one cent a gallon on gasoline and naphtha. This was not a discussion of politics. It was simply a discussion of economic problems. When Colonel Roosevelt discusses politics, he calls it by that name and there is no doubt but that the same is applied correctly. At other times he may discuss subjects that have political significance, but they cannot be called politics unless they are so labelled by the colonel. History has demonstrated that the colonel not only is an analyst whose use of the English language is grammatically correct but that he fully appreciates the finer distinctions in the definition of words. Unless the colonel says so, politics was not discussed at the Gary dinner.

LITTLE LAUGHS.

"What is he noted for?" "He is either a literary man or a magazine writer, I can't remember which."—Life.

Griggs—"How does your brother take married life?" Briggs—"According to directions, I believe."—Boston Transcript.

"And you really love me for myself alone?" she sighed. "Yes, darling," he confessed, and then, as an afterthought, added, "You know, you don't show up very well in a crowd."—Buffalo Express.

"The man who doesn't know when he is whipped has my admiration." "Mine, too," replied Broncho Bob; "unless he's one of the kind that thinks they're still fighting when they're only hollerin'."—Washington Star.

"Mr. Jaggs never opened his mouth while his wife was entertaining her guests the other night." "Oh, yes, he did several times." "I didn't hear him. What did he say?" "Nothing. He yawned."—Baltimore American.

"You used to have a house full of company." "Um." "How is it that the young men no longer come to see your daughter?" "It's her own fault. I told her not to hang that cooking school diploma in the parlor."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

All Ready.

Henry Ford halted at a dinner in his native Dearborn the advent of a wave of prosperity.

"A wave of prosperity," he said, "a vast tidal wave of prosperity is sweeping down upon us."

The great captain of industry laughed gayly.

"Let it come," he said. "We can all swim."—Chicago Record-Herald.

The Bungler.

"Bungling diplomacy," said a noted feminist in Los Angeles, "is largely responsible for this cruel war. Nations deliver themselves into the hands of diplomats who are often incapable of such delicate work. The result is a disaster."

"Diplomatic talent is a gift," she continued, "and therefore a man who receives a responsible diplomatic post solely because for 30 years he has successfully manufactured household articles and accumulated a big fortune is apt to prove as much of a bungler as the Chicago hearse's husband."

"We have been married, 12 years," this hearse said, sentimentally, to her husband, "and not once have I missed baking you with my own hands a birthday cake, have I, dear?"

"No, my darling," the husband answered tenderly. "No, my darling, I'll de-grade, and I look back on those cakes as milestones in my life."—Los Angeles Times.

Enough Is Enough.

Mary Jane's master is a slightly eccentric bachelor. He has one most irritating habit. Instead of telling her what he wants done by word of mouth he leaves on his desk, or on the kitchen table or anywhere else where she is likely to see it, a note curtly directing her to "Dust the dining room," or "Turn out my cupboard," and so on.

The other day he bought some note paper, with the usual die suuk address imprinted upon it, from the stationer, and ordered it to be sent home.

Mary Jane took it in, and the first thing that caught her eye was a note attached to the package. She read it open-eyed.

"Well," she said, "he's asked me to do a few things in his blessed note, but this is the limit. I won't stand it no longer."

For the note read:

"Die inside this package."—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

WEST SAUGERTIES.

West Saugerties, Dec. 23.—James Snyder has lost a horse, which puts him to a great inconvenience as he had quite an amount of wood cut and ready to draw out.

Wilson Hommel visited Saugerties one day last week.

The funeral of Mrs. Benjamin was held last Saturday forenoon in the Blue Mountain Church. She had been ill a long time at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Joseph Becker, having had paralysis. She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Becker and Mary Benjamin of Saxton, and one son, Charles, of Saugerties.

Mrs. Rogers Moran and mother, Mrs. Papa, left for New York on Saturday. Mrs. Moran intends to stay there for a time to rest and then is coming back to make her home here.

Myer and Peter C. Myer, James Snyder and daughter, Bessie and Mrs. P. C. Myer and Mrs. J. Rogers. The last three named ladies called at the home of S. P. Cole while in town.

Walkers Negligent.

Ninety per cent of the street traffic accidents in New York city are due to carelessness or other fault of the injured according to a report of the police department, which has adopted a system of reporting such accidents on forms that classify them according to cause, location, nature, seriousness, type or vehicle involved, age of injured and time of day.

It has been the custom of the public to condemn drivers, particularly of motor vehicles, for recklessness and to demand rigid regulation, but the police reports show that it is the person afoot that needs to be controlled and to exercise as much caution as is observed by the operators of the vehicles. This will be a revelation to most persons.

Dismisses Cleary Case.

Justice Tompkins at New City on Tuesday dismissed the indictment for grand larceny in the second degree upon which William V. Cleary was brought to trial yesterday. Cleary was recently found guilty of second degree forgery. He was acquitted some time ago of killing his son-in-law, Eugene Newman. In dismissing the indictment the court held that the prosecution had failed to make out a case.

A Little Chat On
Telephone Etiquette

DO YOU remember the old, well-thumbed book we used to have on the parlor table at home—the "Handbook of Etiquette and Guide to the Social Graces?" We consulted it for everything—from the Inaugural Ball to acknowledging an invitation.

If a revised edition of that old work is ever brought out, it will contain a chapter on telephone manners. People are beginning to pay more attention to their telephone manners than formerly.

The telephone "Hello" is no longer in use among particular people. It is becoming obsolete because it is both meaningless and time-wasting.

In the modern, up-to-date business establishment, the telephone is answered thus: "Jones & Company, Mr. Smith speaking."

This same man in his home will answer his telephone thus: "Mr. Smith speaking."

When his home telephone is answered by a servant, he has instructed her to say: "Mr. Smith's residence."

Our next chat will bring our series of

MATTERS BEFORE THE SURROGATE

Frank B. Lown, as executor of the estate of Dr. Charles H. Roberts of Oakes, town of Lloyd, has filed his bill of costs in the matter of the appeal which recently was decided by the court of appeals, and Surrogate Gill has granted judgment in his favor as executor, against Miss Frances P. Roberts and Thornton D. Roberts for $173 costs, and interest. Harry C. Barker of Poughkeepsie appeared for the executor.

A hearing was had Tuesday in the estate of James Cruickshank of the town of Shandaken. Recently a petition for a compulsory accounting by the executors was filed by one of the interested parties, and a citation was issued returnable Tuesday. On Tuesday the executors filed their account together with a petition for a voluntary accounting. The proceedings were consolidated and the matter adjourned to January 17. It was understood that in the meantime the petitioner shall have the opportunity of an examination of the executors' books by an accountant, and that objections can be filed after the hearing on January 17th, if the executors are examined on that day and any questions arise as a result of their examination on which the petitioner desires to object. The estate amounts to about $118,000. William H. Brady of New York city appeared for the executors with Daniel B. Deyo of this city, of counsel; Ryan & Wheeler of New York city appeared for the petitioner.

SHADER'S FINE CHRISTMAS FOODS

A Store Loaded to the Gun with the Sort of Holiday Cheer That Insures Health, Wealth and Happiness.

(By The Freeman's Special Xmas Writer.)

Virgil Shader's preparations for the holiday season this year were made on a larger scale than ever, and his trade has been brisk. Shader's market is fairly bristling with choice, high-grade foods—the finest lines of groceries, provisions, table delicacies and plump poultry—which will evoke pleasant memories of a sumptuous meal on Christmas day.

Shader's store is literally packed with good, substantial Christmas cheer, and with an adequate delivery service hundreds of homekeepers will today and tomorrow be cared for with sureness and dispatch.

This store is a real and very great help to Christmas food buyers just now. Whatever your need, you may be certain that it will be filled as efficiently as possible, and that promises made by Mr. Shader will be kept with conscience. You'll have less trouble in selecting holiday foods if you go to this store than you'll have by just sitting down and trying to "think it out." There are two reasons for this. The first is that everything sold here is of the best quality, and the second is that Mr. Shader shows splendid stocks that make it possible to spend any amount one pleases and at the same time be sure of quality, no matter what one buys.

C. Winchell.

Mrs. R. Hendricks, who has been ill for a long time, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Hermance, on Thursday, December 17. She was past eighty years of age. Several sons and daughters survive. The funeral was held Tuesday, the Rev. Mr. Gulick officiating.

Splendid Poultry Display at Lay's!

The wheels of time have once more rolled around near to another Christmas—that day when families gather around the fire-side to enjoy the gifts they receive and good things to eat and drink which make Christmas time memorable.

This market is more bountiful in its preparedness than at any time in its history. Our display of poultry—about two tons—is the finest ever shown in any Kingston market. The turkeys are white, plump, tender, fleshy, juicy and sweet, with a flavor unequalled in any other kind of poultry we know of—and we know them all. The Chickens, Ducks, and Geese are of equally fine quality and the prices are as low as we could safely make them on such magnificent "birds." Come in and see the show. You'll enjoy it.

A Merry Christmas to All Our Patrons!

Nature's Equalization.

A peculiarity of deaf cats is that they seem to have a very great sense of feeling in their feet pads. It is almost an impossibility for a heavy animal to approach a deaf cat from behind without giving it warning, and this may be attributed to the extreme sensitiveness of the cat's feet recording the slightest tremor of the ground.

Why Red-Heads Are Seldom Bald.

The reason why red-haired people are less subject to baldness than others is said to be this: Their hair is relatively thick, one red hair being almost as thick of five fair or three brown hairs. The consequence is that with 26,000 red hairs the scalp is well thickened; whereas with the same number of fair hairs one is comparatively bald.

FLYING SEA GULLS FOREBODE A STORM

Sea gulls flying over the Rondout creek today were a sure indication of a storm tonight or Friday, according to men working along the docks. The birds have not been seen flying over the creek since the last storm. The sudden moderation of the weather today led many to believe that instead of snow there would be rain.

While the Ramsdell of the Central Hudson line is not finding much trouble in running between Rondout and New York the towing season closed on December 10 but since then there have been some special tow down when it was found possible for the tow to go through the ice. The upper Hudson is now closed to navigation and there is considerable ice between Rondout and Newburgh. In fact there is so much ice that the towing company do not think it safe to try and take a tow through Tuesday night the tugs Washburn and Rose left the creek with three light boats and had considerable difficulty in getting through to Newburgh being delayed by the ice several hours. The boats they took down were sheathed but a barge or ice boat not sheathed would be badly cut by the ice if an attempt was made to tow it through. Last year the last tow of the season was December 18 or two days later than this year.

If the weather continues warm and there should be a fall of rain it would not surprise old rivermen to see the lower river between Rondout and Newburgh open again. They recall winters when a cold snap of three days closed the river up tight to navigation and the cold spell was followed by warmer weather and boats ran all winter.

FRED FULTON WILL HE SMILE AFTER MARCH 4?

Here is the latest picture of Fred Fulton the man matched to fight Jess Willard for the heavyweight championship of the world in New Orleans on March 4 next. The picture was made in Chicago a few days ago and shows Fulton with a big smile spreading over his countenance. How long the smile will last depends largely on the outcome of the fight. Few experts concede that Fulton has a chance of defeating the man who wrested the championship crown from Jack Johnson.

A new stucco front is being put on the Stuyvesant Garage on Clinton avenue. This replaces the old frame front and makes a neat and pretty appearance.

JOHN M. MAYER EXPLAINS.

A Few More Remarks About the Timken Roller Bearing Axle.

I will now more fully illustrate the Timken Roller Axle. We have said before the price of Timken Axles cost from 18 to 112 dollars per set. We will average them about 44 dollars more than you would pay for the ordinary axle. The question now is, "How long will it take to get that 44 dollars back?"

The answer is, "about two weeks." By comparing the delivery cost of a number of team owners, we find that it cost approximately 45 cents a ton to deliver goods and that a team averages six trips per day. A two horse team hauling two tons to a load on common axles can easily haul three tons if the wagon is equipped with the Timken Axles. Here is a direct saving of $3 per day. Now figure out how long it will take to get back the extra cost between common and the Timken Axles. Is it worth a trial?

My experience has always been, the best is not too good at any time. We find that a "cheap" suit of clothes looks "cheap" in a short while and does not give nearly the value of dollar for dollar in wear that a more costly suit gives.

One more illustration whereby you can curtail your expense. Have a truck that will carry from 8 to 10 tons equipped with 2 horses at least. A saving of one man, one horse, and one truck equipped with Timken Axles. I want to do all to help you along to do your hauling quick, easy and with low expenses.

Very truly yours,
JOHN M. MAYER.

BLANCA MEDINA.

HAVANA GIRL, COMING HERE TO ATTEND SCHOOL, SENT TO ELLIS ISLAND.

New York, Dec. 23.—Although she has been allowed to enter this country several times before, 11 year old Sonorita Blanca Medina, daughter of a wealthy Havana merchant, has been detained and sent to Ellis Island, because neither her parents nor her legal guardian was at the dock to meet her when she arrived aboard the Motapan.

The little girl has been coming to school in this country for several years. Her brother, Pedro, and her sister and brother-in-law met her at the dock, but hard-hearted immigration inspectors decreed that as none of them could show legal guardianship papers, the girl must go to Ellis Island with other immigrants. An attempt is being made to secure the girl's release before Christmas.

WITTENBERG.

Wittenberg, Dec. 23.—Don't forget the Christmas cantata entitled, "Santa's Trade's Carnival," also an oyster supper to be given in the M. E. Church Hall on Saturday evening, December 25, at 7:45 o'clock. If decidedly stormy it will be given on Monday evening. Admission ten cents. Everybody welcome.

F. B. Stone, who has been seriously ill, is much improved at this writing.

A large number hereabouts availed themselves of the low rate of fare on Monday to Kingston, seeing they could have more time to do their shopping as the train left 6 o'clock.

THE CITY BEAUTIFUL

GARDEN CITY MOVEMENT AND COPARTNERSHIP.

Both Have Proved Great Aids to Housing Problem in England.

The contributions of the Garden City and co-operation movements to the construction side of England's housing problem are the most important and significant that have been made since attention was first turned to the need for building better types of dwellings, says a contributor to the American City. They have shown that it is possible to interest large amounts of capital on the basis of good security with a limited but fair return. They have shown that not only the wealthy, but the wage earner, can afford to live in an attractive single family house amid delightful surroundings. They have in a measurable degree reduced the pressure of population in the centers of the cities by removing thousands of people to the outskirts. In this way they have made it possible for those on a lower economic level to secure better houses so wanted, and they have strengthened the hands of the authorities who would impose higher standards for all dwellings by showing that low standards are not necessary.

The business is still to a considerable degree experimental. Making was started as late as 1901, Hampstead Garden suburb in 1907. But the promise certainly is good. There were in 1914 fifty-eight garden villages and suburbs. The co-partnership societies, counting only those affiliated with Co-partnership Tenants, limited, numbered fourteen. The theories of the founders have been modified as experience showed was necessary, but the basic principles remain. The evidence is all to the effect that not only better housing, but very good housing, can be provided for the well paid wage earner on a sound business basis.

KNOW YOUR CITY.

Movement Growing in South For New Orleans Plan.

The plan of New Orleans of adopting "The New Orleans Book" as a textbook in the public schools of the city is being favorably considered by a number of southern cities and probably will be adopted by many of them. "The New Orleans Book," which was made a part of the curriculum of the public schools is an intimate, picturesque story of the city designed to familiarize the children with the life of the place in which they live, giving them an understanding of its government, institutions and traditions. During the months in which the book has been in use it has proved a real word and of absorbing interest. The idea has been commented upon editorially very widely throughout the south and in many cities, including Louisville, Chattanooga and Atlanta. It has been suggested that a similar book be introduced in their respective public schools.

An interesting aspect of this idea is the manner in which the information to be derived in this study has been connected with the Dixie and other highways which have been built or are now under course of construction in the south. The sections and cities through which every one of the principal highways, the Dixie, the Jackson, the General Forrest, passes are rich in history and legend. There is in the south much anticipation of increase in tourist travel from other sections of the country when these highways are completed. The view which a Louisville paper takes of this situation is typical and is as follows:

"Why not a Louisville book? The history of Louisville is not without interest, its present not without achievement in many fields and promise of greater and better things to come. Within a year or two at most Louisville will be on two or more traveled highways from north to south. The strangers within our gates will find here much that is worth the learning. It is bewaring no secret that the number who can teach is small. Louisville needs to know itself even more than others need to know of it.

"The Louisville book should have a place not only in the libraries, but in the homes and schools."

To Encourage Dairying. The Commercial club of Centerville, Ill., is bent upon encouraging dairymen in southern Illinois. In order that this may be done the club is going to sell Emery dairy cows to the farmers at cost.

How Hard Work Affects the Blood. Recent experiments show that the number of red corpuscles, and therefore the oxygen-carrying capacity of the blood, are increased by labor sufficient to cause an appreciable amount of perspiration. If there is no perspiration there is no such increase.

MAKING FOR THE CITY BEAUTIFUL.

Municipal Art Jury of Philadelphia Decreasing the Street Signs.

It is gratifying to read in the fourth annual report of the municipal art jury of Philadelphia what that body has done in the past year to decrease the number and multiplicity of garish signs and street fixtures which are a disgrace to our American cities, says the Philadelphia Press. Such things as overhanging electric signs, awnings, lamp standards, private bridges, etc., do not appear to have much to do with what is usually comprehended in the term art, but their presence or absence in various forms makes a great deal of difference in the appearance of the streets upon which they are placed.

There are, indeed, altogether too many of these signs in the city. In some places one can walk for squares with a sign overhead every few feet. As the art jury says, they "are, to a greater or less extent, an interference with the public's use and enjoyment of the street." The art jury does not wish to wipe out entirely these advertising signs and suggests that they be attached parallel to the wall.

Overhead awnings are also condemned by the art jury. It states that they should be permitted only in front of hotels, railroads and theaters. In many parts of the city, such as the minor shopping and market districts, they darken the streets. A general plan should be evolved which would in time wipe out all these ugly obstructions from our streets.

WIDER USE FOR SCHOOLS.

Increasing Tolerant Spirit in Letting the Buildings For Various Purposes.

The federal bureau of education has been making a study of the wider use of school buildings. The bureau finds an increasingly tolerant spirit manifested in the school letting regulations and cites as an illustration a rule adopted by the school board in Long Branch, N. J., after the opening of the new building, as follows:

"It shall be open to all meetings of citizens for the discussion of public questions intended to benefit the city, for meetings of civic clubs, for meetings of associations of unrestricted membership, whose object is improvement of public welfare, as women's clubs, choral societies, etc.; for entertainments and lectures to which the public is admitted free or of which, if admission is charged, the proceeds are for the benefit of the general public."

Commenting on the difficulties which may result from such a wide grant of privileges, the report says:

"The difficulty inherent in applying such a hospitable rule is that of making certain that public motives predominate over private motives in the purposes of the group desiring to use the buildings. A solution of this problem which is widely favored is the requirement of unrestricted membership already mentioned in the Long Branch rule. Wisconsin, California, Indiana and Maryland have made it obligatory by legislative enactment upon school boards to grant the privileges of school buildings to all nonpartisan, nonsectarian and nonexclusive organizations without cost."

Summing up the great advantages to be gained by using the vast equipment of school accommodations during periods of popular leisure, outside of school hours, the bureau points to the following possible results:

First.—Purveying beneficial amusements to those who are prevented by fatigue from engaging in active play and who otherwise might receive their satisfaction at the hands of unscrupulous vendors.

Second.—Stimulating the growth of those groups which are capable of self organization and government by furnishing them with meeting places.

Third.—Promoting the formation and vigor of groups which might be incited to self expression by furnishing both quarters and leadership.

"In these ways," concludes the report, "public education is extending its distinctive function of improving human society. That this work will undergo still greater and more systematic extension is clearly foreshadowed by the trend of present developments and the persistency of the forces behind them."

Screening the Billboards. Now the steam railroads are taking up the work of reducing the number of billboards erected along their rights of way on private property, says the Providence Journal. In Indiana the plan is to plant shrubbery at the terminals where big signs are erected and to let the bushes grow so high that passengers cannot see the billboards.

Shrubbery higher than a car window is more pleasing to look at than billboards, and when advertisers find that passengers cannot see their announcements made in two foot letters of various colors they will be less inclined to pay money for this kind of publicity. Division superintendents throughout the country should be encouraged to set out shrubs wherever it is practicable to screen a billboard, and co-operation on the part of civic improvement associations will do much toward bringing about the abolition of an out-of-door nuisance.

Make From Wood Pulp. All sorts of hardware articles are now compounded of the pulped tissues of trees that once swayed gracefully in some northern forest—cigar and cigarette holders, fancy combs, umbrella materials, films and a hundred other things.

EVERY THREE MINUTES ONE DIES IN THE U. S.

The Anti-Tuberculosis Society illustrates the frightful toll of consumption by extinguishing a light every three minutes, and shows that it is the man or woman, girl or boy, who neglects colds, whose blood is impure, who feels weak and languid, who is the very one to contract tuberculosis—and none are immune.

During changing seasons, or after sickness, blood-quality is most important, and if you and your family will take Scott's Emulsion after meals it will charge your blood with health-sustaining richness, quicken circulation, and strengthen both lungs and throat. Scott's is free from alcohol—easy to take—It cannot harm. Get it today. Scott & Bowne, Bloomfield, N. J.

ANIMAL SWIMMERS.

The Best of All, Though Not the Swift-est, is the Polar Bear.

Nearly all animals are better swimmers than man and take to the water naturally, while he has to learn to propel himself. The rhinoceros and hippopotamus are wonderful swimmers and divers, while the Indian elephant crosses great rivers with heavy loads. The elk and the reindeer are first class swimmers. The elk keeps his head above water and crosses directly from bank to bank to avoid turning. The reindeer, on the other hand, turns as often as he likes, keeping his head only a little above the surface.

But of all swimmers of all climes the best, though not the swiftest, is the polar bear, who passes half his time in the water swimming and diving. His swimming power is nothing short of miraculous if it is remembered that the water in the regions he frequents is invariably cold and that cold is normally prohibitive to good swimming. There are bears that can swim from forty to fifty kilometers without great effort.

One of the swiftest swimming animals is the squirrel. A sportsman on one occasion, having at hand a squirrel born in captivity, which had never seen water, wanted to see if it could swim and took it with him in a rowboat to the center of a lake. The squirrel turned toward the bank, head and paws above the water, back and tail underneath it, and began to swim so rapidly that it was with the greatest difficulty that the man recovered it when it reached the shallow water near the land. It is said that even many monaquic birds will swim like ducks if an attempt be made to drown them.—Pearson's Weekly.

BATTLE FIELD TACTICS.

Operations Involved in Consolidating a Position.

In military reports and accounts of battles one often comes across the phrase "consolidating a position" without knowing just what it means. Consolidating a position means to so prepare it that it will offer the maximum resistance to an attack on the part of the enemy and the maximum protection to the troops holding it.

Where trenches have been captured the first thing to be done is to make them face the opposite way from that in which they have been faced. This is done by building loopholes and overhead covers on the side exposed to the enemy, which, of course, prior to the capture was the rear of the trench.

When trenches have been partially destroyed by shell fire or mine explosions and then captured they have to be rebuilt facing the enemy. As no communicating trenches exist leading from the captured trench to the one the attackers came from, they have to be built connecting with this main position in such a way as to prevent the enemy from taking it in the flank.

All this work and any other which may be done to strengthen the captured trench is meant when a report speaks of consolidating a position.—Spokane Spokesman-Review.

Winning a Reputation.

An amusing story of how he won the title of being the champion coconut shiver among the clergy is told by the bishop of Chelmsford.

He informed a gathering of clergymen, says the London Globe, that when vicar of Bethnal Green he took a party of workmen to Epping forest and was there challenged to have a shiver at the cocoanuts.

He accepted and, paying his sixpence, was given seven balls. Then something happened which would not happen again were he to live to be as old as Methuselah. With those seven balls he knocked off seven cocoanuts. He has lived on the reputation of that feat ever since, and when any one asked him to have a coconut shiver he said, "You go and knock seven off with seven balls and then I will speak to you."

Pride of Ancestry.

"I've looked up your family tree," said the genealogist, "but I doubt if you will be pleased with it. Your great-great-grandfather was hanged for murder; your great-grandfather was imprisoned for robbery; your grandfather was tarred and feathered for beating his wife. That's not a very good record, is it?"

"I should say it is," replied the other emphatically. "It shows the family is getting better with each generation. I'm an improvement on the entire bunch—never been in jail yet. Let me have those records—I'm proud of 'em."—Boston Transcript.

The Pedestrian Servants.

All Servant persons are great walkers. A servant, given a short leave, will think nothing of fetching it to his home, five and twenty miles off, and walking back after a short day spent with his family. It is quite in the ordinary way of their business for both men and women to be two days on the road to market. London Chronicle.

"SKEETERS" HERE CHRISTMAS NIGHT

Interstate League Standing.

	W.	L.	P.C.
Jersey City	11	4	.733
Kingston	11	5	.688
Stamford	8	6	.571
Paterson	9	9	.500
Brooklyn	4	9	.308
North Hudson	0	1	.000

Schedule For This Week.

Thursday, December 23.—Stamford at Jersey City.
Saturday, December 25.—Union Hill at Stamford; Jersey City at Kingston; Brooklyn at Paterson.
Sunday, December 26.—Brooklyn at Union Hill.

It is hardly possible that the Kingston quintet will take the lead this week in the league race. While the game to be played in this city Christmas night, between Jersey City and Kingston, will have considerable bearing on the first position honors, the game tonight at Jersey City, in which the leaders oppose Stamford, has to be taken into consideration. Jersey City should defeat Stamford, and Kingston in turn should defeat the "Skeeters," which will show both teams with a standing which would read: Won, 12; lost, 5; per cent .706.

The Christmas Night Game.

With Jersey City the attraction on Christmas night, and the fact that both teams are fighting for the pennant, Kingston fans can expect a game such as they witnessed when the famous Trojans opposed the locals, three seasons back. The closeness of the struggle that has existed between Jersey City and the Kingston quintet since the season started, has been the cause of drawing out good crowds when Jersey City appeared in Kingston. This rule should hold for Christmas night, and with the game going at fever heat there is no reason why a record breaking crowd should not be in attendance at the holiday game, which will start promptly at 8:45 o'clock, to allow plenty of time for dancing.

Holy Cross Defeats Apollo.

At the Holy Cross parish house last night the Apollo Five were given a severe drubbing by the Holy Cross team, the score being 32 to 16. This is the worst beating the Pine Grove avenue team has administered to an enemy in a long time, and was due to their superior team work. Butler and Moxham starred for Holy Cross, while Boyd and Miller were the best performers for the Apollo team. The score:

	FB	FP	TP
Holy Cross	15	2	32
Rourke, lf	3	1	7
Soper, rf	2	1	5
Butler, c	4	0	8
Moxham, rg	5	0	10

MENKE'S DAILY SPORTING LETTER

(By Frank G. Menke.)

Well, Christmas time has come again.
To find us all so poor.
To finance one world's tour.
But let's console our empty jeans
With these few words of cheer,
Those Christmas joys and Christmas pains
Do come but once per year.

Johnny Evers says he likes the golfing game. No wonder. That's a game, r'no, where one can cuss and cuss without fear of being chased to the cooler by an outraged umpire.

A statistical person has arrived at the conclusion that 6,500,000 persons witnessed the 32,000 college and scholastic games that were staged during the past summer. That meant an average attendance of 2,000 per game.

Charley Herzog, of the Reds, is the Santa Claus of real life. Charles invaded New York during the recent baseball meeting with an auto load of country sausages, eggs, buckwheat, bacon, pumpkins, mince meat, chickens, turkeys, cider, butter, and a half dozen other varieties of farm products. Charles brought them from his big farm in Ridgely, Md., and distributed them among his Gotham friends. Report has it that John McGraw got a share, but no credence is given to it.

Fifteen Yale men tried—and tried in vain—to develop a real football team at Yale in 1915. One Yale man—Al Sharpe—developed the wonderful and unbeaten Cornell eleven. One Yale man—Alonso Stagg—developed the powerful 1915 Chicago eleven. George Sanford, a Yale man, built up the Rutgers eleven which established the 1915 scoring record in the east. Another Yale man—Harry Williams—of Minnesota, lifted up his team to a point where it ranked as the best in the western conference.

What do you make of it, Oscar?
Jack Doyle, poolroom proprietor in New York, declares there are at least 200,000 persons in New York city who play the game every day. "The balky game is on the decline," says Doyle. "Three cushion billiards is the vogue, with golf pool becoming the rage."

In the general squint along the football horizon, the folks seem to have overlooked the fact that West Virginia University had a smashing machine this season, and that it has been represented by some wonderful footballers in years gone by.

West Virginia's achievements in the football world have not been widely heralded, merely because it is listed among the "smaller" colleges. Despite the fact that it has only a comparatively small student enrollment it gets together each year a football eleven that can give battle to the best elevens in the east.

An illustration of just how good West Virginia was this past season is shown thusly:
West Virginia held to a 6 to 6 tie the great W. & J. team which later defeated Yale 16 to 7; West Vir-

A very fast and exciting game is expected as the East Kingston's will have such fast men in their line-up as John Watzka, M. Redden, W. Watzka, V. Redden and W. Fay. Dancing will follow the game.
